Editor's Message

To the faculty and students of Corrigan High School

First, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to the sponsor, editors, and assistants. Without them this annual would not have been possible.

I'm sure that each one of us has his own expectations of what their yearbook should contain. This book may not live up to all those expectations, but we do hope that as you look back over it in years to come that it will bring back many happy memories near and dear to each one of us.

Sincerely,

Jud Homer David

Dear Students:

I would like to congratulate the members of the annual staff on the excellent job they have done in recording the events of the 1959-60 school term. I hope the year has been a pleasant and rewarding experience for each of you as it has been for me.

The purpose of education is to assist the individual student in becoming a happy, useful member of society. In order to achieve this goal the student must develop mentally, physically and spiritually and also come to understand the duties and responsibilities he must assume as a member of society. I hope the program and activities of our school, which are so accurately portrayed in this book, have helped prepare each of you to become happy and useful citizens.

Dick Skinner is a legend in Corrigan High School. A staunch supporter of the Bulldogs, he has not missed a football game in eighteen years. In addition, he has driven the Bulldogs to every off game during that period. From his "office" in the candy room, Dick coaches the boys, giving them shrewd "inside" information.

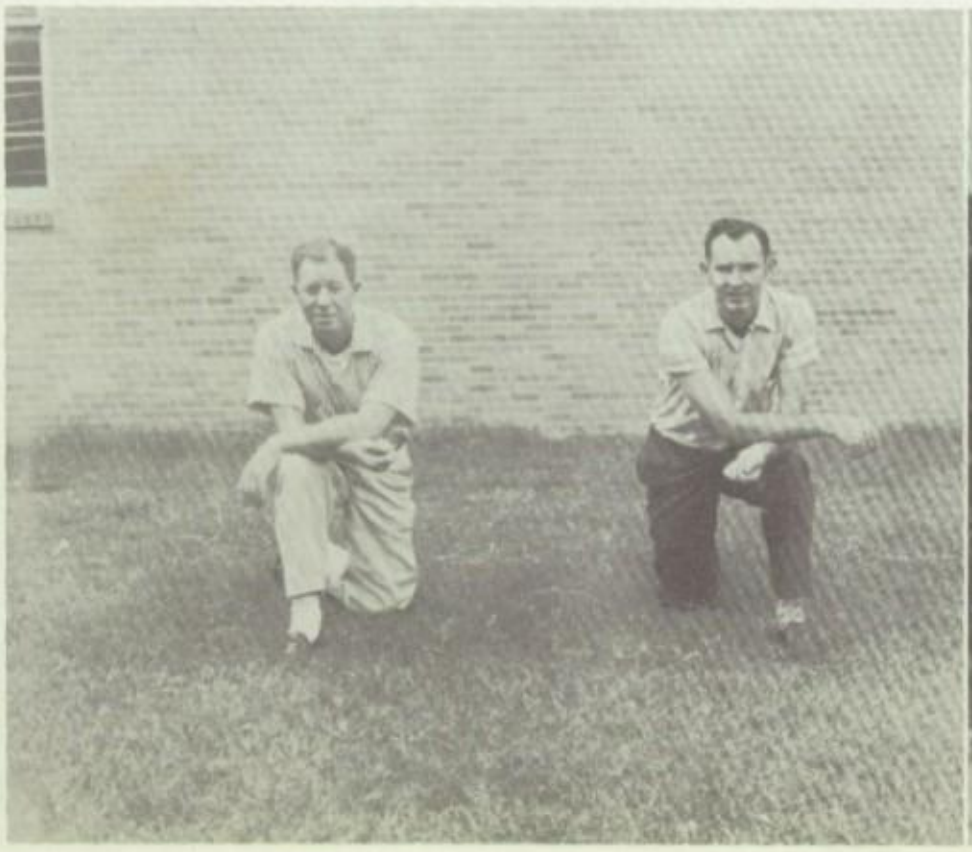
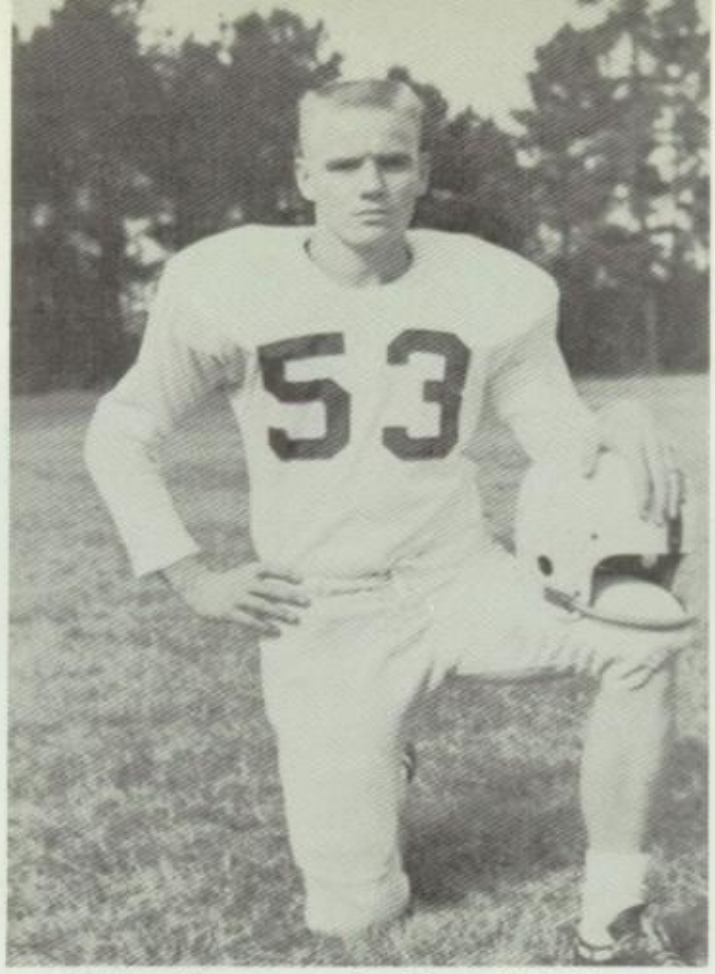
Jakie Sherman



Burton Sailor, Sr. End Tri-Captain; Burton had the honor of making the All-District team. A four year letterman, he was an outstanding performer for the Bulldogs.

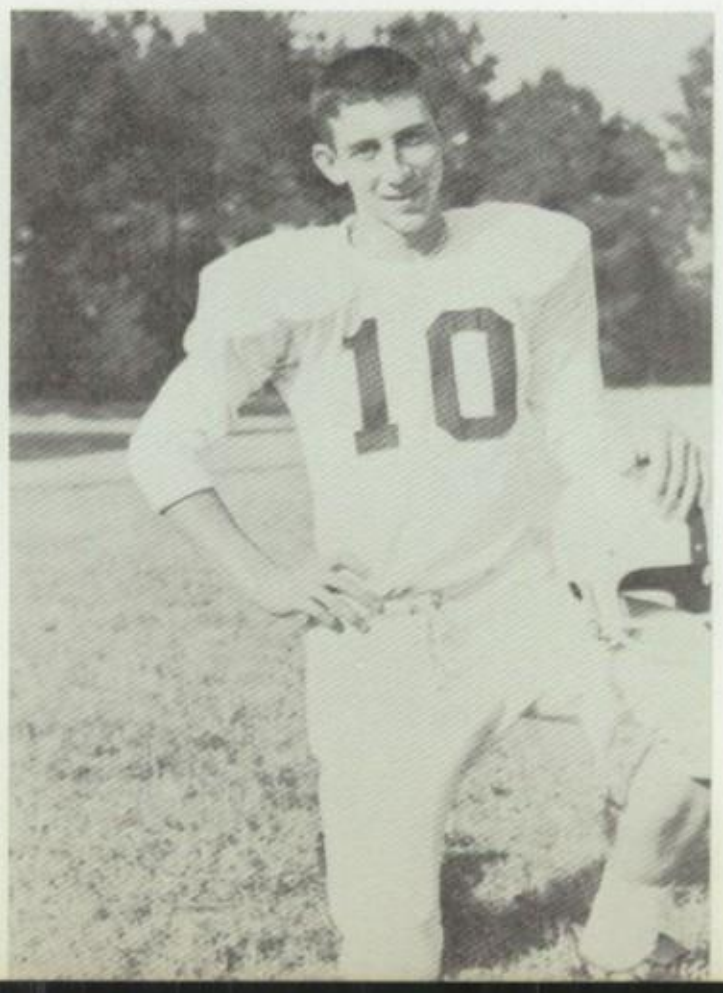


Jakie Sherman, Sr. Back Tri-Captain; Jakie, a powerful runner, was always a threat to the opposition. He will be hard to replace next year.

Curtis Jordan, Sr. Back Tri-Captain; Curtis' ability earned him honorable mention from the coaches of the district.

William Manry, Sr. Guard; William's hard-fighting tactics were of much help to the blue and white. He is an outstanding player lost by graduation.

Jud Homer David, Sr. Back Jud Homer, the quarterback for the Bulldogs, showed great ability in calling plays and handling the ball. He will be missed by everyone next season.



Ernest Day, Sr. Guard; Ernest was a hard-fighting Bulldog throughout the season. A steady, dependable player, he will be missed on the gridiron.

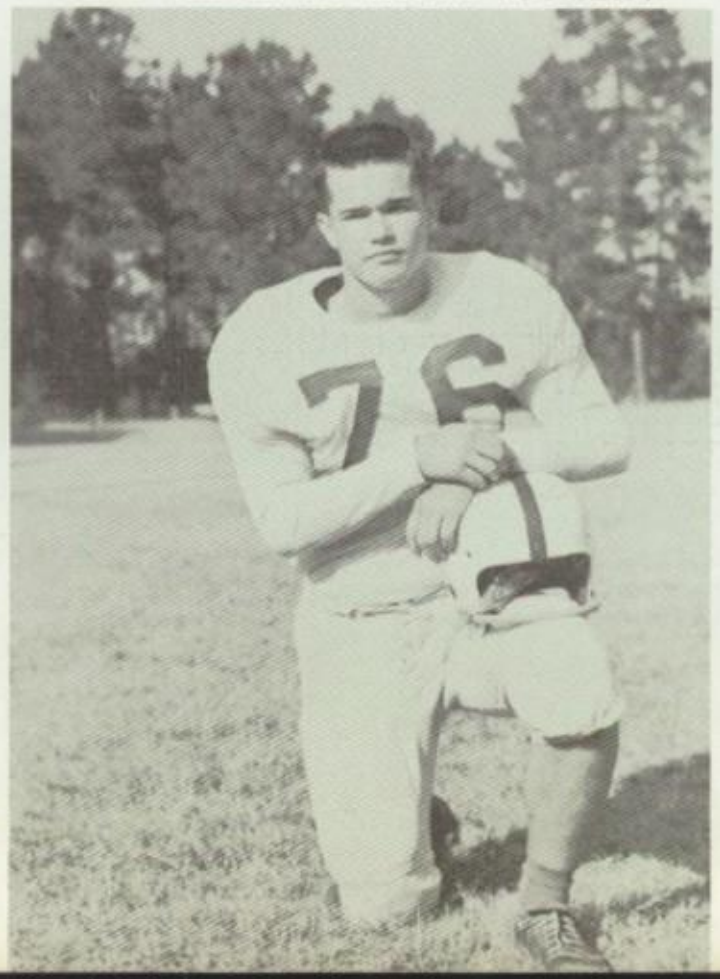
J. D. Walker Sr. End; J. D. a rugged competitor always gave his best. He will be missed next year.

Glen Honeycutt Sr. Tackle; Glen's hard nosed action on defense made him unpopular with the opposition.

Milton Bell Soph. Tackle; Milton saw lots of action on both offense and defense this season. He is certain to see much action next year.

Ronnie Marsh Jr. Back; A hard runner who was difficult to tackle, Ronnie was a great favorite with the fans. Everyone is looking forward to another fine performance from him next year.

Buddy Joe Harber, Fresh. Tackle; Buddy Joe developed very quickly into a good lineman for the Blue and White. A lot will be expected from him in the seasons to come.



Dewy Wolf Sr. Back; Dewy's drive and speed gained much yardage for the team this year. He will be missed next year.

Franklin O'Guin Sr. Tackle Big and rugged, Franklin was of much help to the Bulldogs. He will be missed by all.
